October 2006

Dear Fellow Tar Heel,

As part of our continuing effort to provide timely research and education materials to the citizens of our state, the North Carolina Family Policy Council is pleased to provide you with this 2006 Voter Guide for the 2006 General Election in North Carolina.

All too frequently, we hear from citizens across the state who are frustrated over the lack of reliable information about candidates who are running for elected office. Radio and television ads talk about what the candidate wants you to hear, but where do you go for information on what candidates really think about the issues that matter to you and your family? When candidate positions are not known, the gathering of enough information to make an informed decision can become a burden—sometimes resulting in voter frustration and even apathy.

We decided to assist with that information gathering by asking candidates for most federal and state offices what they think about a variety of issues. We sent questionnaires by certified mail to more than 400 candidates and attempted to personally contact each candidate who had not responded to the questionnaire prior to the response deadlines. To facilitate processing and printing, we used a standard grid and limited question answer options to “yes,” “no,” or “undecided.” Approximately 60 percent of the candidates responded.

Many candidates wrote comments or preferred to spell out their positions in more detail. These additional candidate comments are available on our website at www.ncfamily.org and are a part of this project. We strongly urge you to visit our website for this important information.

We hope you will also utilize the response tear-off on the back page of this Voter Guide to subscribe to the North Carolina Family Policy Council’s mailing list and email distribution in order to stay up-to-date on public policy issues that impact your family.

May God bless you, your family and our government throughout this election year!

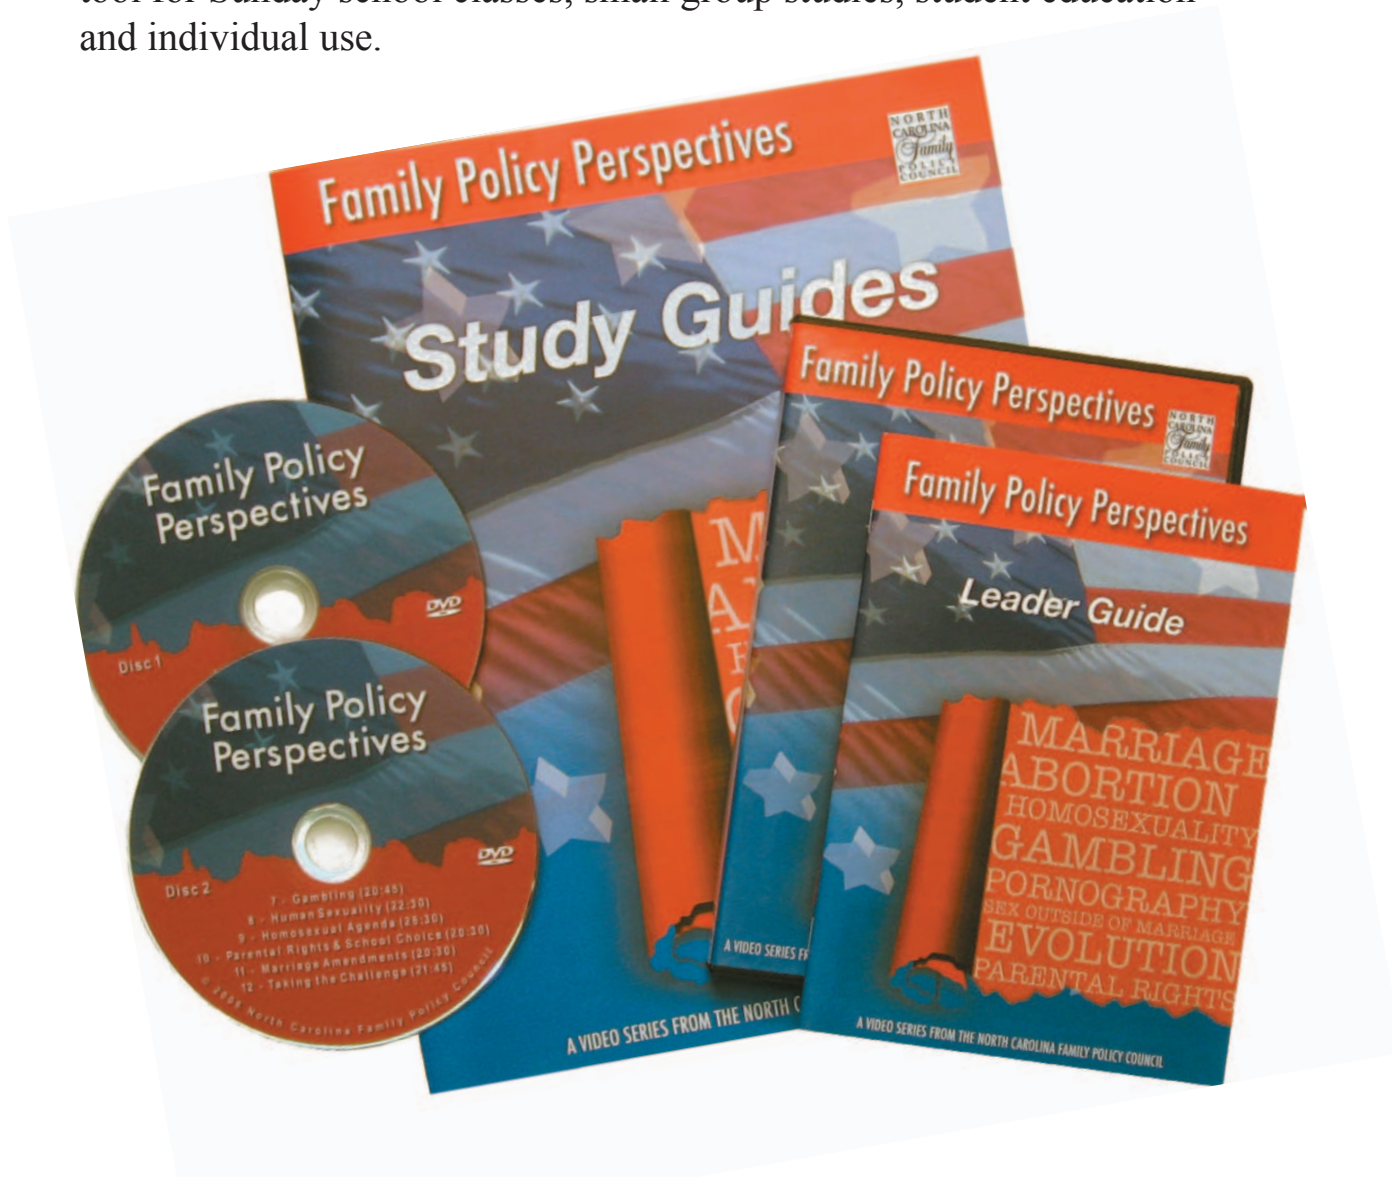

Sincerely,

William J. Brooks, Jr.
President

Want to learn more about the critical issues facing you and your family?

The North Carolina Family Policy Council has produced an exciting new video series, Family Policy Perspectives, which is designed to educate and inform citizens about many of the major policy issues facing our state and nation. Family Policy Perspectives is a valuable tool for Sunday school classes, small group studies, student education and individual use.

For more information about Family Policy Perspectives or to place an order, contact the North Carolina Family Policy Council at (919) 807-0800 or visit our website at www.ncfamily.org.

Be Prepared to Vote

Identify Your Voting Districts.

Refer to your voter registration card, or contact the North Carolina Board of Elections by phone at (919) 733-7173 or via their website at www.sboe.state.nc.us to determine in which U.S. House, State Superior Court, State Senate and State House district you reside.

Research the Candidates.

Use this Voter Guide and other candidate information available on www.ncfamily.org (including additional candidate comments and voting records for incumbent State House and Senate members dating back to the 1997 legislative session), as well as other resources to determine which candidates you plan to support.

Record Your Choices on the form to the right, and take it to the polls with you on November 7.

Local Elections. You may also have elections for local offices that are not included in this Voter Guide, as well as local and state referenda on a variety of issues. We encourage you to contact your local board of elections to determine what additional races or referenda questions will be on your ballot, then research those candidates and issues as well.

About the North Carolina Family Policy Council

The North Carolina Family Policy Council is a nonprofit, nonpartisan, research and education organization that serves as a voice for families and traditional family values in North Carolina's public policy arena. From full-time monitoring of legislation when the North Carolina General Assembly is in session, to publishing cutting-edge research policy papers, to interviewing nationally renowned experts on a host of current events for our weekly radio program, to producing this 2006 Voter Guide, the North Carolina Family Policy Council is constantly striving to provide North Carolina citizens with the information and tools they need for effective involvement in the policy arena. We also work to educate policy makers on the impact their decisions will have on North Carolina families.

We encourage you to join in our efforts to preserve families and traditional family values in North Carolina by partnering with us in our efforts. You can do this by filling out the tear-off response portion on the back cover of this booklet and sending it in to the North Carolina Family Policy Council. Designate which of our timely and informative publications you would like to receive, and we will gladly sign you up.

Thank you for your interest. We look forward to working with you to ensure that North Carolina remains a state we are proud to call home!

At www.ncfamily.org you will find:

- Additional comments and explanations from the candidates.
- Voting records for incumbent State Senate and House members.
- Your federal and state voting districts.
- Resources to keep you up-to-date on issues affecting the family.

North Carolina Judiciary

The North Carolina Family Policy Council acknowledges the obligation of judges to maintain impartiality in judicial decisions. In 2002, the U.S. Supreme Court ruled that it is unconstitutional to prevent judicial candidates from expressing their views on “disputed legal or political issues.” As a result, candidates for judicial office may freely express opinions on legal or political issues without fear of being sanctioned by judicial or legal ethics authorities. It is important to note that judicial elections in North Carolina are nonpartisan. The party affiliation of judicial candidates has been listed only when provided by the candidate.

- Which of the current justices of the United States Supreme Court most closely reflects your judicial philosophy?
 Alito Breyer Ginsburg Kennedy Roberts Scalia Souter Stevens Thomas
- On a scale of 1 — 10, please rate your constitutional judicial philosophy, with a “living document” approach being a “1” and a “strict constitutionalist” or “originalist” approach being a “10.”
- Do you believe that a judge has the right to display the Ten Commandments in his or her courtroom?
- In Lawrence v. Texas, 539 U.S. 558 (2003), the United States Supreme Court recognized a right to homosexual sexual relations under the United States Constitution. Do you agree with the Lawrence decision, which recognizes a constitutional right to homosexual sexual relationships?
- In Roe v. Wade, 410 U.S. 113 (1973), the United States Supreme Court recognized a right to abortion under the United States Constitution. Do you agree with the Roe decision, which recognizes a constitutional right to abortion?
- In Lofton v. Secretary of the Department of Children and Family Services, 358 F.3d 804 (11th Cir. 2004), the United States Court of Appeals for the Eleventh Circuit upheld the State of Florida’s position that individuals who “engage in current, voluntary homosexual activity” do not have the right to adopt children under the United States Constitution. Do you agree with the Lofton decision, which recognizes that individuals engaged in current, voluntary homosexual activity do not have a constitutional right to adopt children?
- In Santa Fe Independent School District v. Doe, 530 U.S. 290 (2000), the United States Supreme Court ruled that a student-initiated, student-led invocation over the loudspeakers before a public high school football game was unconstitutional. Do you agree with the Santa Fe Independent School District v. Doe decision, which recognizes that student-initiated, student-led invocations prior to a public high school football game violate the United States Constitution?
- In Kelo v. City of New London, 126 S. Ct. 2655 (2005), the United States Supreme Court ruled that a governmental entity’s use of eminent domain powers to take private property for economic development purposes did not violate the Fifth Amendment to the United States Constitution. Do you agree with the Kelo decision, which recognizes that governmental entities can constitutionally take private property for economic development purposes?
